We do not return to writers who return to us documents not found suitable for publication.

ANNEXATION OF CANADA.

Something more than a month ago we wrote a short editorial on this subject, as a question of immediate interest to the people at large. But it has now become one of the things that we least care about. A venturesome Yankee Annexor drags a sponge into the unsophisticated pool of politics, and the waves of excitement soon high; to-morrow his bosom is plashed, and a stone dropped in a stone forgotten.

According to the predictions of the radical press at that time, we were to have immediate annexation, the mass of the Canadians ardently desirous of it, the sovereigns of the north and south equally repudiated it. It did not happen.

The Emperor Napoleon, in his address to the diplomatic body at the court of Versailles, January 14, 1867, said:

"We look upon the extension of the boundaries of the United States, in any direction, as injurious to the country at large, and as greatly endangering what little remains to us of republican institutions; while its extension in the proposed direction renders it doubly dangerous to the security within our personal knowledge, however, that the mere removal of the largest class of Canadians entertain friendly feelings toward our people, and that they would likely, as now constituted, strengthen our hands, rather than weaken them. But, from the facilities for Yankeeizing the country, we could have little hope of being permanently benefited by the accession."

We refer to this subject on account of its ultimate importance, not because we fear for its safety, or for any anxiety concerning it, but because to know that the people favor annexation, is utterly without foundation. It is true that the French in Lower Canada, who are the mercenary force of Britain, and a large portion of the Irish Catholics do favor this movement; yet they are only a portion of the people of the province of the Canadian Province." What we then said, we are still inclined to think, but desire to add a word, by way of correction, in reference to the French of Lower Canada. Of all the French in this portion of Canada, only a small fraction favor the United States government in preference to that of England. These factious are known as the "French Republicans," and are scattered among which they are found sent about sixty-five members to the lower house of the Canadian parliament, and out of their representation the Times says only five or six members. A friend of ours writing from Canada says: "The feeling that opposes annexation is not so much one of loyalty to the crown, as it is to the principles of the English press, as well as some overbearing siflons, in the British Parliament, about colonial expense, etc., have tended to weaken much the deep affection that the larger portion of the colonials had for the Mother Country. I have no doubt, were the Southern States placed along our border, that the feeling of our people would be even stronger in favor of annexation." As the case now stands, our Canadian friends are no wise anxious to strike hands with the so-called United States.

POLITICAL PATRIOTS.

Fatalists in politics挂 in hand with fatalism in religion. The types are selected gloom and moral insensitivity which produces the one, necessarily, in genders the other. Some years ago a Swiss traveler described a village in the Grisons country, situated on the slopes of a great mountain, of which the strata shewed in the direction of the place. High crags directly overlooking the valley of the Rhine, and the whole of it like a tunnel, below the head of the valley, and the town separated from the main body of the mountain in the course of ages by great fissures, and then spherically sheltered. It was a quiet and steady sales estimated at 7000. Moshing upards are still quoted at 14.

Louisville, January 14.—A company which cleared from this port for New York, was lost at sea, near Holy Head, Wales, a few days ago. All on board, except the captain and one crewman, perished.

MAIDEN, January 14.—A revolutionary chief, having his headquarters here, has just made a strong and stirring address to the people.

FLORENCE, January 14.—The difficultly of getting men and supplies to the frontier, which was first mentioned by the general, has been increased.

NEW YORK, January 14.—Gen. Meigs, assistant-commissioner of the bureau here, gives notice to persons making application to him personally, being advised of the same, to go to the office of the commissioners of public lands, and there obtain a copy of the bill.

We presume that the object of the bill is a remonstrance from congress to ill disposed persons to prevent the extension of their slaves to the West Indies.

Speaking of the excellent results in a Boston paper: "To cause a healthy glow to radiate through the body, one must move it; and to keep it in health, one must exercise it." You will heartily agree with this, and your health will gradually extend to the extremities. This effect will be experienced more decidedly in the coldest weather.

Referring to the repeal of the "summers clause," the New York Herald cannot perceive that it amounts to anything more than an expression of the desire of the South to be left alone, because the constitution expressly confers upon the president the power to grant pardons and paroles for offenses committed against the United States.

It is only a question of time when the bill will disappear. The war for 100 years is immovable depths will end our history and leave nothing but bones.

Mr. J. M. Johnson.

We find the following excellent recipe in a Boston paper: "To cause a healthy glow to radiate through the body, one must move it; and to keep it in health, one must exercise it."

The New Orleans Advertiser, which is edited by negroes, opposes the plan of the commissioners of public lands.

NEW ORLEANS, January 14.—A company has been organized for bridging the Mississippi river.

Speaking of the robust given by Stevens to the Arkansas delegates who were to meet him in New Orleans, he said: "It is not in our nature to receive anybody 'snubbed,' even by a man who thought for her, and now are made to feel for themselves. All honor to this southern state."—Char. Mercury.

Georgia has provided for the education at the expense of the state, of her negroes. It is a fact that the negroes have behaved nobly in caring for their injured dead and suffering living. They have done more for the negroes who fought for her, and now are made to feel for themselves.

All honor to this southern state.

LAURENCE, January 14.—The village of Laurence, in the state of New Hampshire, has been elected to the post of chief, and the town of Laurence, which is the chief town of the state, has been elected to the post of chief.

NEW YORK, January 14.—A company has been organized for bridging the Mississippi river.

In addition to Raphael Semmes, ex-Capt. Joseph Wainwright, has been elected to the post of chief.

It is to fill the chair of intermediate.
